BOB'S BURGERS, last season's highest-rated new scripted series premiere on any network, returns for a second helping. The irreverent and acclaimed animated comedy about a man, his family and their burger joint ranks among the Top 10 programs among young men.

The series follows a third-generation restaurateur, BOB (H. Jon Benjamin), as he runs Bob's Burgers with the help of his wife and their three kids. Bob and his quirky family have big ideas about burgers, but fall short on service and sophistication. Despite the greasy counters, lousy location and a dearth of customers, Bob and his family are determined to make Bob's "grand re-re-re-opening" a success.

Even though business is slow, Bob gets to work with his family. His wife, LINDA (John Roberts), supports Bob's dream through thick and thin (but truth be told, she's getting a little sick of the thin). Their eldest daughter, TINA (Dan Mintz), is a 13-year-old hopeless romantic with minimal social skills. Middle child GENE (Eugene Mirman) is an aspiring musician and a prankster who serves up more jokes than burgers. Their youngest, LOUISE (Kristen Schaal), is the most enthusiastic about the family business, but an off-balance sense of humor makes her somewhat of a liability in the kitchen.

Next season, Bob and the family test-drive the food truck industry, dive into the world of synchronized swimming, search for treasure in an abandoned taffy factory and get tied up with a very needy bank robber.

BOB'S BURGERS is a 20th Century Fox Television production. The series was created by Loren Bouchard ("Home Movies"). Bouchard and Jim Dauterive ("King of the Hill") serve as executive producers and writers.
