From deep in the heart of Texas comes a 10th season of the half-hour comedy KING OF THE HILL. The series has received numerous accolades in the past nine years, including an Emmy Award for Outstanding Animated Program, a Women’s Image Network Award, a Nancy Susan Reynolds Award and two Environmental Media Awards. KING OF THE HILL also has garnered numerous nominations for Annie Awards, Prism Awards and Shine Awards, and was hailed as the Best Television Show of the Year after its debut by TV Guide, Entertainment Weekly and TIME magazine. The series is translated into numerous languages, including Spanish, French and Portuguese, and is licensed in almost 50 countries around the world, including Germany, France, Chile, South Africa, Kuwait, Slovenia, Norway, Spain, Ireland, Mexico, Israel, Japan and the United Kingdom.

KING OF THE HILL depicts the life and times of HANK HILL (Mike Judge), his family and their neighbors in the fictional suburb of Arlen, Texas, the heartland of America. A hard-working, loyal family man and proud Texan, Hank is assistant manager of Strickland Propane. He’s a blue-collar Everyman who sees himself as the voice of common sense and reason in a world of incompetent sales clerks, meddling bureaucrats and do-good liberals. Hank’s Rock of Gibraltar is his wife, PEGGY (Kathy Najimy), Arlen’s version of Susan Sontag: substitute Spanish teacher, fast-pitch softball hurler, local Boggle champion and notary public. Hank and Peggy’s pride and joy is their 13-year-old son, BOBBY (Pamela S. Adlon). They would have liked a bigger family, but Hank has a narrow urethra. The household is completed by Hank’s nubile 18-year-old niece, LUANNE (Brittany Murphy).

Hank is the undisputed alpha male among his neighborhood buddies, DALE (Johnny Hardwick), BILL (Stephen Root) and BOOMHAUER (Judge). Dale’s an exterminator who never met a conspiracy he didn’t like, Bill’s a lonely-heart Army barber with low self-esteem, and Boomhauer is a cool, rockabilly, muscle-car-driving ladies’ man who speaks unintelligible English. Most episodes, you’ll find Hank and the boys drinking beer around the barbecue. Chances are, what’s on the grill is a sacred cow.

In addition to the regular cast, KING OF THE HILL has featured special guest voice appearances by the likes of Johnny Depp, Brad Pitt, Ben Stiller, Chris Rock, Jennifer Aniston, Matthew McConaughey, Meryl Streep, Bernie Mac, Reese Witherspoon, Ryan Phillippe, Kid Rock, Pamela Anderson, Heather Locklear, Willie Nelson, Sally Field, Billy Bob Thornton, Lisa Kudrow, Renée Zellweger, No Doubt and the Dixie Chicks. This past season, Jason Bateman and Tom Petty added their names to the list.

Mike Judge and Greg Daniels are co-creators/executive producers and Michael Rotenberg, Howard Klein, John Altschuler and Dave Krinsky are executive producers for KING OF THE HILL, which is a 20th Century Fox Television production in association with Deedle-Dee Productions, Film Roman, Inc., Judgemental Films and 3 Arts Entertainment.
